THE ROSSTERS' TOURNAMENT.

RATTLING MAIN OF GAME COCKS.

New York vs. Westchester-Nine Battles, 860 Each, and $600 the Odd Fight-Doggod Endurance and Determined Ferocity-An "Up and Up" Contest-New York the Victor.

Wednesday night one of the best mains of the season was decided at Metrose, Westchester county, in a pit well known to the sporting community. It was between Westchester and New York, made by Joe Wade, on the part of the former, and Jim Me-Laughlin for the latter, and the contracting parties agreed to show fifteen birds each, ten chickens and e cocks, and fight all that fell in, the weights being cocks from four to five pounds, and ave pounds four ounces. The battles were for thirty dollars each a side and $609 the odd fight. Nine coupies fell in. Wade han ited fils own birds, and McLaughlin had the services of Andy McGinley, an enthusiastic manipulator of game chickens. Jakeway, an old sportsman, was ected as judge. The crowd numbered some of the best betting men of the peri d.

THE FIGHTING.

First Pight.—The amusement began with the beavy weight cocks—two five pound birds. West-chester was the favorite for the first battle and also for the main. The New York bird was a yellow "hen feather," very handsome, but out condition, baving been in the coop all winter at Union Hill. Westchester showed a black red mnff. They set to work in earnest amid the yelling of a hundred voices clamoring for bets. The black red got the best of the first buckle, but then, in his anxiety, ran his own gasts into one of his legs and fell helpless for the instant. That was soon remedied, and then in a clean, ready, determined manner he sent the deadly heels into the neck and head of the "hennery." until one notter than the others brained him, and the favorite of New York fell dead. The want of being in proper training told severely on the "ben feather."

Second Fight,-The light weight cocks, each four Westchester had the odds of twenty to sixteen. New York presented a blue red spangle, sixteen. New York presented a blue red spangle, with white backle, a showy looking bird. Westchester was a back red, with white backle, called the "Black Thorn." They meant business. They took hold of each other revengetally, and it was for the first buckles hit and hit, but the black red got his blows in telling spots—neck, throat and head repeatedly—until he fought the spangle down and had beaten all the powder from him. But New York was game and full of haired, and, had heen in decent condition, may have cooked "Black Thorn," but he wasn't and didn't as the black got in a brain blow, and the spangle died in the pit. Time, 10:22.

Thorn," but he wasn't and didn't as the back got in a brain blow, and the spangle died in the pit. Time, 10:22.

There I span, — Fifty to forty on the main in favor of Westchester, and in many instances taken. The crowd now began to be excited and with decided earnestness whagered their greenbacks. All the matches of the cocks bai been fought, and now came the enteketis. The heavy weights were shown—two five pounds four ounces. Westchester sent in a black red and New York a bine red with blue heakle—a big "squalker," as a promising youth termed him. Ten to eight and double that sum on the black. First they fought very shy, dancing about the ring like puppets, until the blue sent a quick body blow into the black which the youngster vindicityle returned, and then, with affaiter fly, he for a while cut the blue in neck and throat. The New Yorker soon became distressed, and, despite his owner, an old stager in the pit, standing on a back seat and cursing his "soul" into the lowest rank of the gamecock's after estate, he would have no more of it for the moment. He afterwards rallied and cut the black's throat and then the black so fast in the carpet, and had the blue been a true fighter he must have won the battle in that manner. After such peresistency and really good huting and esseving generalising on the black's state he deserved the victory, but jost it by the stupidity of his handler in picking Liam from the pit at the wrong time, after having been impounded. New York camed the fight on the ground of nen-observance of the rules, and Judge Jakeway unhealtaingly gave them the fight. Then came the breeze—shouthar, standing, bubbling over with rage—the pit was niled with tacse on the wrong side, and they made the old barn ring for a few minutes. At last order was restored, the judge remaining firm in his rightful occision, and the discontented went mutering to their seats. Time, 28:40.

Fourth Fight.—Two four pound two cunce birds.

Fourth Fight.—Two four pound two cance birds.
Westchester sent in a black "lien feather" and New York a brown red. The brown got it in every part of this body, and dhally one blow from the black more teiling than the others in his brain work, sent him crazy and dead before he was taken up. Time,

10:30.

Fifth Fight.—Westchester had now won three out of four fights, and had the odds of twenty to five on the main. Two four pound twelve outces. New York produced one of McCaoe's Conner strain. and the betting became very clamorous. Westchester sent in a brown red—a June chicken. It was one of the pest battles ever winnessed. Twenty to extreme on the Confer, and great excitement as they were scratched. Each met high in the air, and with were scratched. Each met high in the air, and with flappings like a shaking topsail in a said breeze, came together. His for ait in neck, throat, body and head, they fought down and up. Thrice did Conner get his head pierced, and thrice did the brown get his neek opened, but they were game. Down went the Conner boy, and it looked serious for him, but only for a second, as he renewed his desperate fighting, and at last killed the Westchester representative in great style; but the dead bird was as game a chicken as ever flapped a wing. Time, 9:15.

Sixin Fight.—Two four pound three ounce birds. Both black reds, and the Westchester a "Kilashander." Ten to eight on the latter. They were both effective litters, and went to work to de execution. Kilashander got a brain breaker and he wont crazy, which advantage his opponent followed up, and gradually won, killing him inch by inch. Time, 16:20.

Seventh Fight.—Two four pound eight ounce birds.

16:20. Serenth Fight.—Two four pound eight ounce birds. Westenester presented a black red and New York a First avenue white pyle. The former had the call in betting. This was another game, determined ferocious fight. When the birds came together it was tike the snap of a whip, and before "breathing time" each was cut in all parts of the body. The pyle was one of the best ever in a pit, and lought with such effect that he sickened the Westchester and won a terrific ap-hill battle, which only a game chicken could do.

Eighth Fight.—New York now had the call on the fight and on the main. Before the chickens were brought in twenty even was ofered on it. Weattens showed a black red, four pounds fourteen ounces, and New York a red pyle, four pounds fourteen ounces, and New York a red pyle, four pounds thirteen ounces. The New Yorker came to grief in this fight, the pyle being badly whipped. It was all over so quickly they were surprised. Time, 3:56.

Ninth Fight.—The last and deciding fight, Fifty that Westchester would win the main was offered and taken. Westchester produced a black red fluid with snow white hackle, five pounds one ounce, and New York a black red, with dark hackle. Twenty to sixteen on the white hack. Both were strong, quick lighters, full of dogged endurance and determined ferocity. The winte backle, bad his neck spit down early in the fight, then his head got hirt badly, but his opponent also received terrifle punishment, body and neck, yet the New Yorker in one quick effective if yesen the white hackle spinning acress the pit dead as a stone.

This decided the main. The fighting commenced at fitteen minutes past nine of clock, and finished litteen minutes to three o'clock Taursday morning.

Cock Fighting in the City.

Thursday afternoon last a main of game birds was fought in this city in a back room connected with a prominent saloon on Vesey street, opposite the market. Those present as lookers-on represented the entire sporting community of the metropolis. It was agreed that seven matches should take place for quite a large sum, and the odd fight for enough to give considerable interest to the main. The principals were from that section of the town, and the birds were furnished by funcie John Ludlow, of Union Hill, on the one side, and by parties from Pannapo. N. J., on the other. After six battles had been fought, Ludlow's backers had scored four, and their opponents two. As it was quite unnecessary to light the sevents, the main having been decided, that battle was "altd over." The betting was heavy, and everything progressed satisfactorily to the end. entire sporting community of the metropolis. It

THE NEW FIRE ALARM TELEGRAPH IN NEWARK.

Municipal liberality has at last supplied Newark, N. J., with the wherewithal necessary to the introduction of a long needed want—the fire nlarm telegraph, the erection of which is now all but com-pleted. Yesterday the last of sixty boxes was pleted. Yesterday the last of sixty boxes was put up, and the wires now cover thirty-live miles within the city limits. The cost of the improvement will reach between $16,000 and $17,000, and the benedits resulting from its introduction are declared by Chief Engineer Films R. Carhun, to be already very considerable. Through its agency the fire engines were enabled to be at the scene of the recent large fire much sconer than under the old system, and it is believed that instead of the loss being only $185,000, as omicially scated, it might easily have been double that amount.

It is intended to have two strikers attached to two of the church bells. One of the bells selected is that of the Butch Reformed church, on the corner of Mo-whorter and Ferry streets, the same which was used a decade or so of years under the old volunteer The other striker has not yet been located.
In connection with the recent fire it may be stated that the work of removing the debris is almost completed and workput have already commenced the re-creation of some of the razed buildings.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, March 12-6 P. M. The course of the markets to-day hinged upon the effects of and the popular impressions concerning the Funding bill as passed by the Senate.

At the outset, upon the sumple fact of the adoption of such a measure as a funding bill, the impulse was to regard gold as dear. Hence a temporary heaviaracterized earster dealings, with a decline to 11136. This feeling gave way to the impression, however, that the bill as amended and adopted by the Senate will encounter the terrific opposition of the national banks in the lower House and there be defeated, or at least so emasculated as to fall of con-currence when returned to the Senate. Washington olegrams report the arrival in the capital of a numerous delegation of representatives of the national banks, and that one party of them had already "interviewed" the President. Again, the last clause in sanctioning free banking on the basis of a steady contraction of the currency, while operating against higher gold, was regarded by the Gold Room as wholly intolerable with the Western representatives in Congress, and, therefore, another influence likely to defeat the whole scheme. Under reaction in the sentiment of dealers in gold the price ran up to 112%-an extreme fluctuation of one per cent. The prices at the different hours as well as the extreme quotations presents unfavorable features, not so much in the actual loss of resources this week as in the suggestion that in the decrease of three-quarters of a million of legal tenders is begun the spring outflow of ments and engagements confected with the farming interest in the approaching summer, the prothat the banks will be heavy losers of their deposits until the middle of May or until the causes which occasion this demand cease to exist. The total loss in deposits is about three and a quarto, and two and a half millions of specie. With regard to the latter there are problematical if not suspicious circumstances. Inasmuch as the gov-ernment disbursed about six mullions of coin and received only two and a half millions for customs during the week the item of specie should show i different result than the one presented. Were the amount large enough, on the one hand, it would suggest the "locking up" of gold for speculative purposes—a view of the case strengthened by reports of the organization of "gold pools" among the cotton dealers. Were it small enough, on the other hand, it would be accounted for by the drain on the banks for silver to enable the tradesmen and storekeepers to resume their so-called "specie payments." The "break" in Northwest on Friday evening, which came upon the street like a thunder-clap in a clear sky, unsettled the whole market this morning and produced a general decline, Northwest common going off to 70%. With the firmer feeling in gold there was a general raily and prices closed steady. Even the loss of resources by the banks did not counterbalance the buoyancy produced by the great loss in specie, which was interpreted as a further source of strength to the gold market. The gold market is for the present the key to the stock market and its fluctuations.

IS THE INCOME TAX BONE WITH?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD:-An editorial in your usue of Wednesday truly says that the income tax law has expired by limitation, and that there is now no law imposing such a tax.

I would like to know, then, by what authority a tax of five per cent is witinged from the pay of all government officers and employes. This has been done in January and February in my own case and many others known to me.
